

My Remarkable Dad

By: Andrea Marquez

Dedicated To: My Dad

My Dad is remarkable because he helps me with anything that I need help on, he gets me whatever I want when he has the money, and he is very supportive when it comes to sports. He might volunteer at my karate class. Sometimes he asks me, "Do you want to practice karate?" I always say yes to him.

Whenever I get a new belt rank, he stands up and claps for me. He is the most supportive Dad in the world. He is also the best Dad in the world.

My Dad helps me with my math homework if I ask for help. He is really good with math. He does everything he can to help me.

It takes alot of work to be a remarkable Dad. The Dads have to work alot just to become a great Dad but to become a remarkable Dad it takes much more work. My Dad had to work really hard to become a remarkable dad. My dad is a huge part of my life and I don't know what I would do without him. My life would be miserable, without him.

I love my Dad so much that I could explode from all of that love. My heart is full from just seeing his beautiful smile. I sure am lucky to have a Dad like him.
